JAACAP Call for Papers & New Guide for Authors

Dear JAACAP Reader,

As you know, as the Academy’s flagship journal, JAACAP is dedicated to advancing the science and practice of child and adolescent psychiatry by publishing original research and papers of theoretical, scientific, and clinical relevance to the field.

I am pleased to share with you JAACAP’s new Guide for Authors and announce a general call for papers (no submission deadline). JAACAP welcomes unpublished manuscripts whose primary focus is the mental health of children, adolescents, and families. Submissions may come from diverse viewpoints, including but not limited to:

- genetic, epidemiological, neurobiological, and psychopathological research
- cognitive, behavioral, psychodynamic, and other psychotherapeutic investigations
- parent-child, interpersonal, and family research, and
- clinical and empirical research in inpatient, outpatient, consultation-liaison, and school-based settings

JAACAP also seeks to promote the well-being of children and families by publishing scholarly papers on such subjects as health policy, legislation, advocacy, culture and society, and service provision as they pertain to the mental health of children and families.

In the newly revised Guide for Authors, you will find information about the types of articles featured in JAACAP, including several new for 2018: Master Clinician Reviews, Commentaries, Case Conferences, and cover art. You will also find detailed information about requirements for submission and our peer review process. All articles considered for publication will undergo peer review.

Submit your manuscript online at http://jaacap.edmgr.com. We welcome (and encourage!) pre-submission inquiries at support@jaacap.org.

I encourage you to reach out to us with any questions and comments. Your feedback is always welcome at support@jaacap.org.

Sincerely,

Douglas K. Novins, MD
